the true story of how one muslim woman shaped her own fate and escaped her forced wedding sumaiya matin was never sure if the story of the shaytan bride was truth or myth when she moved at age six from dhaka bangladesh to thunder bay ontario recollections of this devilish bride followed her at first the shaytan bride seemed to be the monster of fairy tales a woman possessed or seduced by a jinni but everything changes during a family trip to bangladesh and in the weeks leading to sumaiya s own forced wedding she discovers that the story and the bride herself are much closer than they seem the shaytan bride is the true coming of age story of a girl navigating desire and faith through her journey into adulthood she battles herself and her circumstances to differentiate between destiny and free will sumaiya matin s life in love and violence is a testament to one woman s strength as she faces the complicated fallout of her decisions a rare machines book queer lives across the wall examines the everyday lives of queer柏林ers between 1945 and 1970 tracing private and public queer life from the end of the nazi regime through the gay and lesbian liberation movements of the 1970s andrea rottmann explores how certain spaces including homes bars streets parks and prisons facilitated and restricted queer lives in the overwhelmingly conservative climate that characterized both german postwar states with a theoretical toolkit informed by feminist queer and spatial theories the book goes beyond previous histories that focus on state surveillance and the persecution of male homosexuality queerness remains one of the most stigmatized and overlooked aspects of holocaust history often erased due to the lingering homophobia of survivors people without history are dust challenges this silence weaving together compelling stories of german dutch czech and polish jewish holocaust victims and survivors including anne frank molly applebaum margot heuman and gad beck whose experiences help illuminate the hidden history of queerness in a time of genocide drawing on extensive archival research this groundbreaking book uncovers the lives of those who were doubly marginalized not only persecuted as jews but also as queer individuals in doing so it confronts the ways in which history has excluded or minimized their experiences urging us to question normative accounts of the holocaust by shedding light on these long overlooked stories people without history are dust deepens our understanding of identity survival and memory reminding us why an inclusive and complex approach to history is essential not just for the sake of the past but in service to the present and the future as well ecologies of affect offers a synthetic introduction to the felt dynamics of cities and the character of places the contributors capture the significance of affects including desire nostalgia memory and hope in forming the identity and tone of places the critical intervention this collection of essays makes is an active consistent engagement with the virtualities that produce and refract our idealized attachments to place contributors show how place images and attempts to build communities are rather than abstractions fundamentally tied to and revolve around such intangibles we understand nostalgia desire and hope as virtual that is even though they are not material they are nevertheless real and must be accounted for in this book the authors take up affect emotion and emplacement and consider them in relation to one another and how they work to produce and are produced by certain temporal and spatial dimensions the aim of the book is to inspire readers to consider space and place beyond their material properties and attend to the imaginary places and ideals that underpin and produce material places and social spaces this collection will be useful to practitioners and students seeking to understand the power of affect and the importance of virtualities within contemporary societies where intangible goods have taken on an increasing value
